Sir,

I am directed to refer to your letter dated 10th June, 1992, addressed to Secretary, Union Public Service Commission on the subject mentioned above and to say that as per existing rules for the Civil Services Examination, the prescribed basic educational qualification for admission to this Examination is degree of a recognised University or an equivalent qualification. Candidates possessing professional and technical qualifications which have been recognised by the Government as equivalent to a professional/technical degree are also eligible for the Examination. As per orders issued by the Government of India, a pass in the Final Examination for Membership of the Institute of Chartered Accountants of India has been recognised for recruitment to superior Services/Posts under the Government. Accordingly, the candidates possessing this qualification are eligible for admission to the Civil Services Examination, which is conducted by the Commission for recruitment to IAS, IPS and other Group 'A'/Group 'B' Central Services/Posts.

2. The scheme for the Civil Services Examination comprises of two successive stages i) Civil Services (Preliminary) Examination and ii) Civil Services (Main) Examination. In the Civil Services (Preliminary) Examination, a candidate is required to choose one optional subject from among the 22 listed optional subjects which includes 'Commerce' as one of the subjects. Insofar as the Civil Services (Main) Examination is concerned, a candidate is required to choose two optional subjects from a list of 47 optional subjects among which 'Commerce and Accountancy' is one of the optional subjects.
