Job Interview, Question Paper

Hi friends I m Ajay from Allahabad.
Infosys visited my campus on 20th Jan 2011. Really its very good feeling of getting placed into Infosys As I got help from this website, so I also thought of writing this that may prove beneficial for others. Total 380 students participated. 113 cleared written and 100 got selected after interview.

The written combine 2 parts- Analytical and Verbal.

Analytical: (30 question , 40 minutes)

- questions of finding next figure in the series.
 - questions of analytical reasoning (My question was about 5 friends who had some money and diff relations were given, find who had most and least etc.
 - questions of DI with two pie charts
 - question on blood relation
- Sorry but don't remember the rest question but mind it question were very simple. A nice practice of R.S. Aggarwal will be enough.

Verbal: (35 question, 30 minutes)

- Questions of finding the correct sentence out of 4 options.
- Questions of finding the mistake in given sentence
- Questions of fill in the blanks, choosing the correct word to put based on grammar and appropriate use of words no vocabularies.
- Questions of drawing inference from a small(4 lines) passage. Require good speed and understanding.
- RC with 5 questions each. My RC's were about 3/4 of an A4. But question were a bit more confusing

All in all verbal was quite tuff but a guy with good grammar can easily crack. But don't take it lightly, it is the most diff part of whole process an deprive many from their Dream Job.

Interviews:

The result were out at about 3.15 and interview started at the same time. It was winter and there was 113 to go so I thought they went very easy taking less time.

But I have to mention the wait was a bit too longer for me as I was the last to face interview. I had to wait for about more than 6 hr. my interview started at about 10.00 any took about 10 min. I kept talking to other guys around keep me focused and out of tension. Interviewer was a about 50yr person but very good. He just asked me about my projects etc. Then he gave me a situation if I m sent to a hill station and bus gets a problem what will I do? I replied what hit my mind. Then he asked me if I m given a project to make a Db for accident record with the other guys what will be my plan? And if one of them leave after some days what will I do? Except this he didn't asked me anything much. They don't check much in interview other than communication. Once u clear written u r 90% in Infosys Just give nice and gentle answer. No need to go very flam-booing, they can easily catch and sack You. That's it, Just be focused and confident.

Best of luck
