

Capgemini Selection Procedure

- 1.) Quantitative 25 question
- 2.) Analytical 30 question
- 3.) Verbal 25 questions

The easiest section is the verbal section. Just prepare Barron's well. One or the other unsolved test papers of Barron's are replicated as it is in the papers... That means antonyms, synonyms, sentence correction. Fill in the blanks words like gaffe, contentious, altruistic, belligerent....

Quantitative Aptitude is so easy I mean 60% is easy and rest is a bit tough... go through the geometric theorems, formulas, quadratic and linear section well.

Analytical is the trickier one. It's very tempting because 1 paragraph may fetch you 4 correct answers... puzzles. All puzzles like 1 speaks French, speaks Chinese and English. Speaks French and ... so arrange them in a comfortable position so that they can converse with each other... other questions like a heavier than b, m heavier than i and j, k lighter than d who is d heaviest?? And so on..... 15 questions are easy but very time consuming and rest questions though seem to be easy but try avoiding to attempt all questions because that will eat up all your time unless you are very good at analytical.....

Total questions 80

Total time 90 min's

NO UPPER CUT OFF

they say that there is no sectional cut off but still they have minimum 5 5 8 questions..

No GD, tech interview (very easy) and then HR (tough)...

Good package and good company... Try well and all the best
