

Hotel Management Assessment Training Programme

Hotel Management Training Experience & Pocket Money (£50 per week)

This is an assessment training programme designed to help applicants gain an in-depth knowledge of the hotel industry and its management. Applicants must have studied or be engaged in Hospitality Studies and have significant work experience in this field. However, applications from candidates with no previous studies in hospitality will be considered on their work experience to date.

It is advisable that applicants have at least an intermediary level of English to be able to work in all the departments of the hotel. If they have a low level of English they will not fully benefit from the programme.

The applicant will complete monthly reports with their manager. At the end of their programme, they will be issued with a certificate of experience with their overall grade of achievement as a percentage, and will also get a reference letter from their manager.

Applicants should be under no illusions; they will be required to work unsocial hours.

Each applicant needs to apply by completing the registration form (please refer to the enrolment form section), which helps us secure an offer of placement for them.
